

Shakes

published 2013 5/29/13

BY Joshua Sifemore

made 2015 5/22

Introduction

What eats

Birds, moles,

Lizards, and

Fish? That's

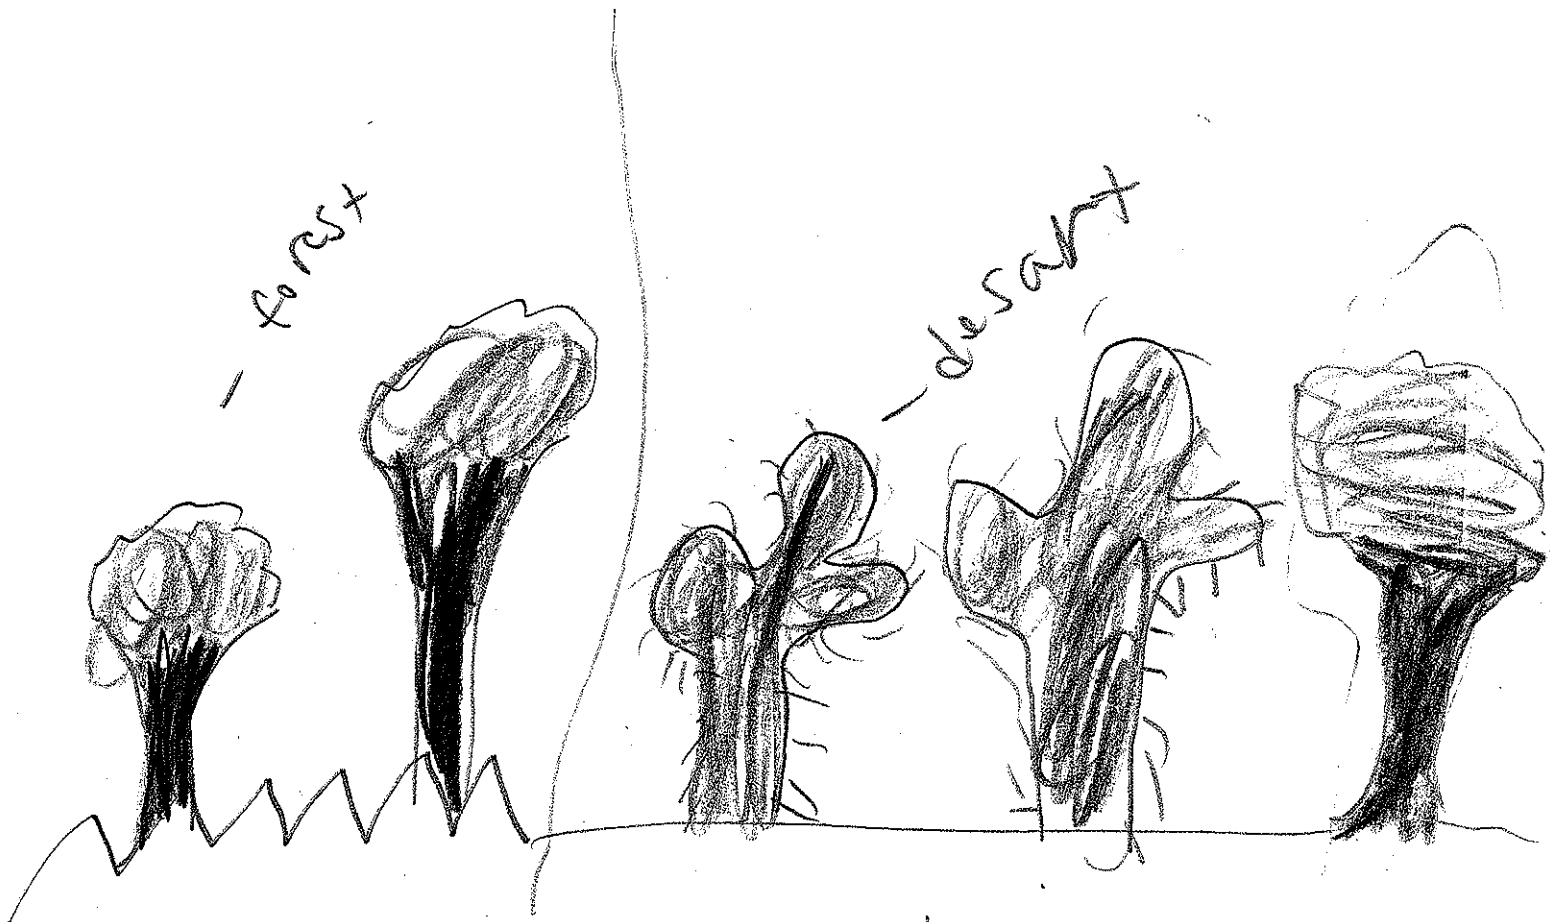

right snakes.

Need more

to find out.

Table of contents

where they Live . . . . .	1
the head and mouth . . . . .	2
Snake Babies . . . . .	3
What they eat . . . . .	4
their Defence . . . . .	5
Life cycle . . . . .	6
Glossary . . . . .	7
Conclusion . . . . .	8

desert + and forest

Snakes live in many places. Most snakes live in Mexico, Central America, South America, and North America. Many live in trees, and on the ground. People think Boa constrictors are found in rainforest, but rattlesnakes they are usually found on land. But some live in the desert, that don't have many trees.

Where they live

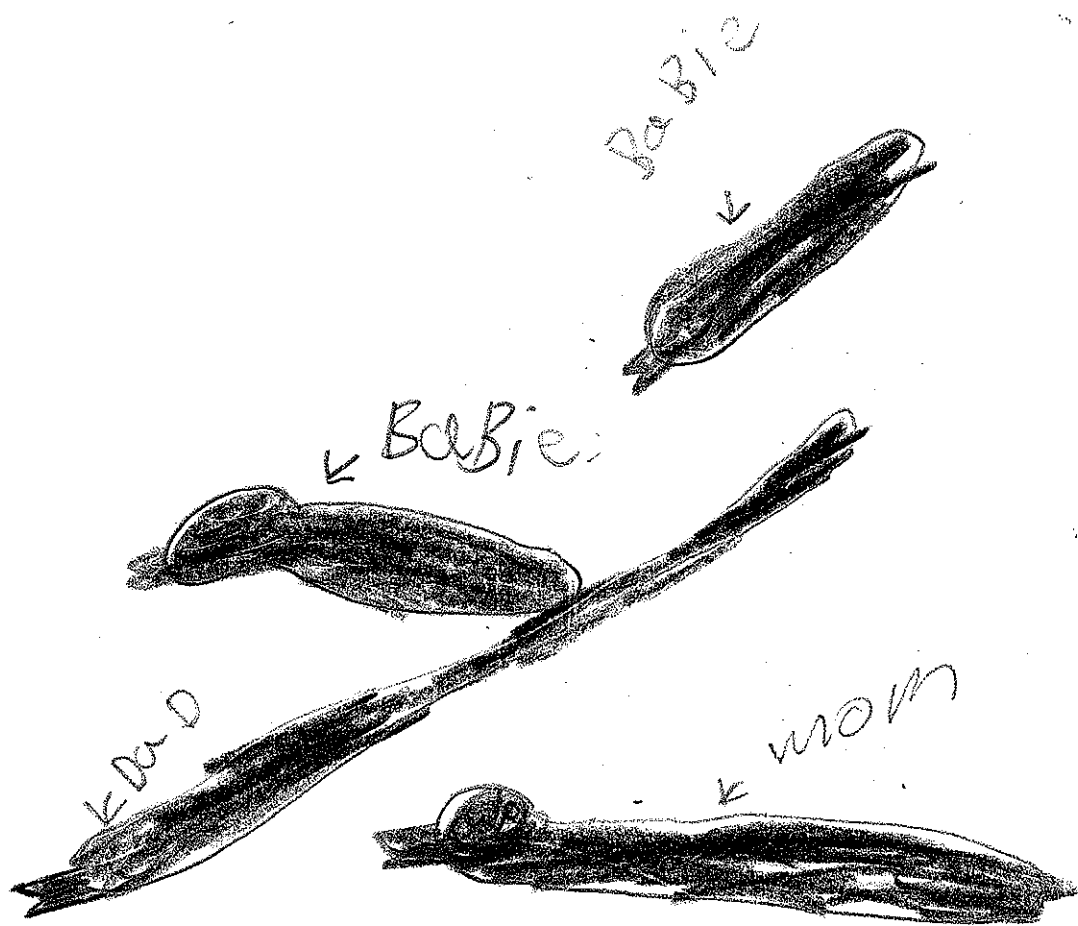

Diagram

mouth

Venom is poision. it can kill a person with two drops. it flows down the fangs and goes in the skin. if you press behind the head it releases venom.

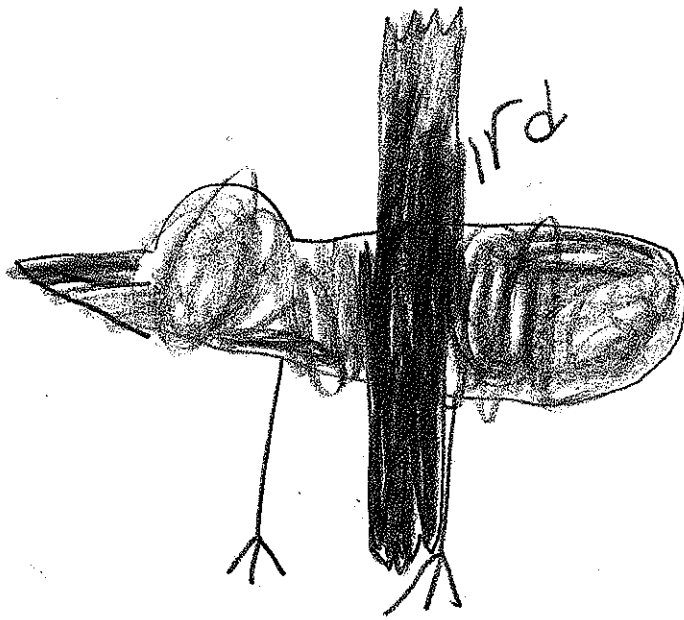

The head and mouth

Pistior of mom and female mammals like to lay tier eggs in damp places. in 4 to 14

 baby eggs PIP their eggs. the babies weigh 1 pound. they take care of their self when they hatch.

Snake BABYS

fish

what they eat

Snakes eat many lizards, rodents, fish, birds, and wild pigs. Mambas eat birds, squirrels, mice, fish, and rats. egg-eating snakes eat eggs they swallow it and then crush it and then they spit the shell out.

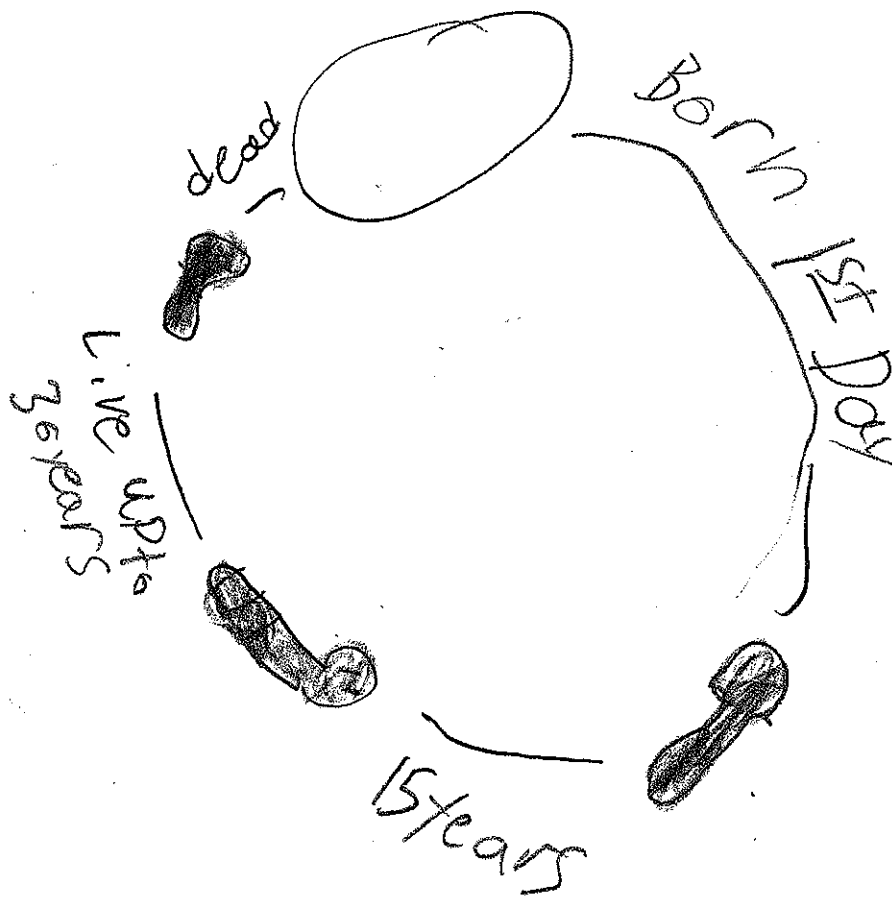

What they eat

protected by leaves and branches
 the green mamba is protected by rhymex. if an enemy comes by it raises its head and flattens
 its back. the boa constrictors camouflage helps it blend in with trees. if an enemy comes by the snake will coil and open its mouth and make a very loud hissing noise.

Their Defence

Life cycle

Female snakes have up to 15 babies at one time. Babies are 8 to 10 inches long. 20 to 25 centimeters long. Rattle snakes when they are born they are 8 to 2 feet long 2.4 meters long. For rattle snakes they live for 30 years. And the female rattle snake has birth to 4 to 30 babies. The female copper head gives birth to 20 babies the snakes wiggle their tail to attract prey.

Life cycle

GLOSSARY

enimy = Behimxibnfan's
animal hunting you,
out of an egg.

PIP = Pip means a chicken
pip out of ~~an~~ egg.
food

Pinex = Preyn means a animal hunted for
you. food

CONCLUSION

CONCLUSION
snakes are fantastic
reptiles.

